SPECIFICATION

GLUE/GROUT

RECOMMENDED: Use of adhesives that do not contain water, such as a two component polyurethane/epoxy is recommended for long term adhesion, (cementitious based adhesives are generally not recommended given the dimensional instability of sukabumi) see attached Laticrete documentation.

Conditions: If arising tile imperfections are acceptable & the occasional tile replacement is unlikely.

Replacing tiles using these stronger bonding systems is difficult, may increase the possible risk of damage to pool membrane systems (if applicable)

NOT RECOMMENDED: A polymer fortified adhesive, possibly with a latex or suitable additive.

Conditions: If imperfections are not acceptable and replacing tiles is likely. Replacing tiles if need be is easier, but tiles may move once immersed. The grout would be matched to your adhesive system, speak to the adhesive professionals for advice. Its best to allow your tiler/pool builder research adhesive system options.

Sukabumi is a natural stone – we are unable to guarantee nature, or offer warranties. It is a very active stone when immersed. Although all measures are taken at the factory to ensure our stone tiles are of high quality, we are unable to completely omit all issues or predict what the stone will do in its new environment. Pitting in tiles can occur, this is due to the mineral content in the natural stone, the water chemistry or not protecting the stone from weather elements once installed (by filling pool with water).

CLEANING / CARE

If stone is affected by organic/non organic stains its best to try using a concentrated PH Neutral cleaner first, If not affective see below.

If stone is affected by organic stains ie. Red wine, Coffee, fungi, rust etc try using a product like Hanafinn Rejuvenata Active as a diluted solution.

If stone is affected by non organic stains ie. Mortar, cement etc try using Hanafinn Rejuvenata Active as a non diluted solution or Hanafinn Oxy-Klenza Plus.

Sometimes discolouration can develop on Sukabumi stone adding additional character to its appearance, especially when installed out of the water. This a natural oxidizing reaction, due to the iron content in the stone, but may be avoided using sealers (out of the water). Speak to a sealing professional.

The charm of sukabumi is its natural hues and organic appearance. Once laid, the tile isnt meant to be perfectly flush (smooth) like a glass tile. Product will change colour with age and will continue to evolve throughout its life.
